

Spring 2024 Civil Procedure Syllabus and Course Information

Professor Elizabeth T. Lear

Office: 312A Holland Hall; Email: Lear@law.ufl.edu

Overview

This course covers the constitutional framework, statutory law, and court rules and practices that govern federal civil litigation in the United States. Unlike your other first year courses, which cover a particular substantive area of law (e.g., Torts, Property, Contracts), Civil Procedure is the study of why and how to bring a civil lawsuit in federal court, regardless of the substance involved (e.g., whether the case involves a tortious act, a property dispute, or a breach of contract).

Office Hours and Appointments

My office hours are on Tuesday each week from 3:30 to 5:30. I'm in 312A in Holland Hall on the third floor. If you would like to make an individual appointment with me at another time, please email me at Lear@law.ufl.edu and we can set up a time to meet either virtually or in person. One caveat – make sure that you include the "law" part of my email address, otherwise you will email my brother who is a professor in Mechanical Engineering. Although he is always sympathetic to my students' woes, he is not particularly helpful.

Objectives & Student Learning Outcomes

After completing this course, students should be able to:

1. Describe the constitutional and statutory foundations of the federal court system and their application to jurisdiction in federal civil lawsuits.
2. Demonstrate an understanding of the procedural rules and statutes that govern the process of litigation of civil lawsuits in federal court.
3. Apply strategic and practical considerations throughout the process of filing and litigating a federal civil lawsuit.
4. Explain how procedural policy choices shape individuals' access to federal courts.

Required Course Materials & Workload

The required materials for this course are:

1. Friedenthal, Miller, Sexton, Hershkoff, Steinman, and McKenzie, Civil Procedure: Cases and Materials, 13th Ed. (West Publishing);
2. Friedenthal, Miller, Sexton, Hershkoff, Steinman, and McKenzie, 2022-23 Statutory Supplement;
3. Joseph W. Glannon, Civil Procedure, Examples and Explanations (8th ed.).

You must acquire the casebook and the supplement in hard copy. I recommend buying a copy of the Glannon's E&E as well; however, it is available to you online through the UF Law Library site.

In accordance with Standard 310 of the American Bar Association's (ABA) standards for law schools, students are expected to devote 2 hours of out-of-class preparation for every 1 credit hour of in-class instruction.

Attendance

Attendance is mandatory and an essential part of the course. In accordance with ABA guidance, you are allowed six absences from class total, for any reason (including for illness, medical appointments, job interviews, school activities, work tasks, family issues, and the like).

Screen Policy

Laptops are banned in my classes. I know it's tough but taking notes by hand is proven to assist in recall and learning. Note further that you may not look at your phone during class. One of the critical characteristics of a good lawyer is the ability to listen and pay attention, even when horribly bored or uninterested! Student Affairs records all our classes. I have told Dean Inman that you are welcome to access these recordings at any time without special permission.

Preparing for and Participating in Class

While I expect you to come to every class and to come prepared, I recognize that exceptional circumstances may lead you to be unprepared on a particular day. If that occurs, I'd much rather you show up unprepared than not show up at all; I just ask that you let me know (by email) the night before class that you will not be prepared. If you do come unprepared without letting me know, I will subtract 5 points from your final exam score at the end of the term.

Final Exam/Final Grade

Regular attendance, preparation, and active participation in classroom discussion are required. Your course in the grade will be based primarily on a final exam. If your exam score puts you close to the "cutoff" point for a higher grade, and the mandatory grading rules allow me to award additional grades in that higher category, class participation will be used to break any "ties" among students with the same exam score. The final exam will be timed, during the regular exam period, and will be open book. More information on the exam will be provided in class.
