Course Website (Canvas).

You may access the course website by going to <http://elearning.ufl.edu/>. Once you log in using your GatorLink information, you will see the course, Introduction to Lawyering, listed there. You are responsible for reviewing the page for course updates. Important information regarding the course will be posted in the “Announcement” section. Please check it frequently.

Required Texts and Other Materials.

- (A) Stefan H. Krieger, Richard K. Neumann Jr., and Renée M. Hutchins, Essential Lawyering Skills: Interviewing, Counseling, Negotiation, and Persuasive Fact Analysis, (Wolters Kluwer 6th Edition 2020).
- (B) Sally Soprano I Role Play Materials (can be purchased at UF Law Bookstore at a later date);
- (C) Additional Materials: Other necessary materials are available to you on the Canvas site as posted documents or links to documents, which you will access through the “Modules” tab on the Canvas site.

Course Objective and Goals:

Being an effective lawyer and serving clients well takes more than just knowledge of the law. It also takes an awareness of what it means to be a member of a profession, the ability to work effectively with people, problem solving skills, and a willingness to think deeply about the meaning of one’s own career. The goal of this course is to help you begin – for ultimately these are lifelong pursuits – learning about these areas. More specifically, this course aims to improve your knowledge of and skills in four main areas:

- (1) client-centered lawyering;
- (2) essential lawyering skills for problem solving, including interviewing, emotional intelligence, counseling, and negotiation;
- (3) professional identity formation; and
- (4) career development.

Learning Outcomes. Students will be able to define and distinguish between foundational concepts involved in client-centered lawyering, interviewing, counseling, and negotiation (including integrative and distributive bargaining), and legal professionalism, including civility, and confidentiality. Students will demonstrate knowledge of these concepts through quizzes, written assignments, and the final exam. Students will integrate their knowledge of these concepts through simulation exercises, reflection papers, and a first-hand observation of a trial court. To improve their readiness for the legal job market, students are required to write a self-assessment of their career development, a cover letter, and a resume.

Evaluation and Receiving Credit for this Course. This is a pass/fail course. In order to receive credit for this course, you must do all of the following:

- not miss more than three classes
- successfully complete all written assignments
- consistently be prepared when called upon in class
- achieve a satisfactory score on the final examination
- complete and achieve a satisfactory score on all quizzes and exercises
- participate in good faith in all classroom activities and exercises

Students who do not satisfy each of the above requirements will either need to complete additional assignments during the spring semester or repeat this course the following year to earn credit for the course.

Although this is a pass/fail course, each professor will award a small percentage of “S+” grades at the end of the semester to students who excel in the above categories.

COURSE EVALUATIONS:

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals OR via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

COURSE POLICIES:

Attendance Requirements. Pursuant to law school and ABA regulations, students are required to attend class regularly. Absences for observance of religious holidays are excused. Please let us know, via email, if you plan to miss class for this reason only. Otherwise, you are allowed to miss a total of 3 classes. We will not issue warnings—it is your responsibility to keep track of your absences. Upon attaining the fourth absence, you may receive a failing grade for the course. Extraordinary situations, personal illnesses, and not-cleared COVID statuses should be addressed to the staff at Student Affairs, who will handle attendance accommodations.

Class Participation. We expect you to come to class having read the material, completed any required pre-class assignments (such as assigned pre-class quizzes or worksheets), and prepared to engage in discussions or exercises. Being unprepared when called upon or failing to participate in any assignment or exercise, whether graded or non-graded, may affect whether you receive credit for this course.

Written Assignments. To receive credit for this course, you must successfully complete the four written assignments. Each assignment is due by the start of class on the day for which it is assigned. These written assignments are: (1) a resume; (2) a cover letter; (3) a statement of career development; and (4) a courtroom observation reflection paper. You will find the instructions for each of the written assignments on the Canvas site (under the “Assignments” tab on the left hand side.) You are required to submit all of the assignments on Canvas. You also need to email your resume to your assigned Career and Professional Development Advisor. The length of the statement of career development and courtroom observation reflection paper should be approximately two pages each.

Quizzes. To receive credit for this course, you must achieve a satisfactory score on each of the reading quizzes. You can find the quizzes on the Canvas site under the “Quizzes” tab on the left hand side. Each of the quizzes contains questions on that week's reading materials and is due by the start of class on the date for which that reading material is assigned.

Classroom Behavior. You are all bound by the University Student Code of Conduct, the College of Law Honor Code, and the rules for this course. Proper conduct in the classroom is necessary to allow everyone to participate in, to derive benefit from, and to enjoy the class. Any unprofessional, disrespectful, harassing, disruptive, or distracting conduct that has a negative effect on the classroom atmosphere is prohibited. You are not allowed to use a laptop computer during class or access the internet or any electronically-stored information using any device (including phones) during class without the professor's permission. Except as provided below concerning in-class recordings, all electronic devices should be turned off during class. Other inappropriate classroom conduct will be handled on a case-by-case basis. The conduct described in this paragraph may result in administrative removal from the course.

Please arrive to class on time. If you arrive more than 10 minutes late without prior permission, you may be counted as absent.

Statement Related to Accommodations for Students with Disabilities. Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Resources. The UF Office of Disability Resources will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the Law School Office of Student Affairs when requesting accommodation.

Recordings of Class

All classes will be recorded via Mediasite in case students must miss class for health reasons. The Office of Student Affairs will work with faculty to determine when students may have access to these recordings, and the recordings will be password protected. It is the student's responsibility to contact the Office of Student Affairs as soon as possible after an absence.

Discourse, Inclusion, and Classroom Ethos: As a law student and future lawyer, it is important that you be able to engage in rigorous discourse and critical evaluation while also demonstrating civility and respect for others. This is even more important in the case of controversial issues and other topics that may elicit strong emotions.

As a group, we are likely diverse across racial, ethnic, sexual orientation, gender identity, economic, religious, and political lines. As we enter one of the great learning spaces in the world—the law school classroom—and develop our unique personality as a class section, we encourage each of us to:

- commit to self-examination of our values and assumptions
- speak honestly, thoughtfully, and respectfully
- listen carefully and respectfully
- reserve the right to change our mind and allow for others to do the same
- allow ourselves and each other to verbalize ideas and to push the boundaries of logic and reasoning both as a means of exploring our beliefs as well as a method of sharpening our skills as lawyers

As part of our commitment to teaching and serving the diverse UF Law community, we have signed the UF Law Anti-Racism Resolution.
